

2016 Great Plains Disaster Behavioral Health Conference

Mitigating Violence for Resilient Communities

Hilton Omaha - Blackstone Ballroom

1001 Cass St, Omaha, NE 68102

July 29th, 2016

Agenda

8:30 am – 9:00 am

Registration - Refreshments available at the back of the room

9:00 am – 9:15 am

Welcome Address – Nebraska Lieutenant Governor Mike Foley

9:15 am – 10:30 am

The Impact of Mass Violence on Communities – Mark Follman, National Affairs Editor at Mother Jones Magazine

10:30 am – 10:45 am

BREAK - Refreshments available at the back of the room

10:45 am – 12:00 pm

Violence Risk Assessment – Randy K. Otto, PhD, Clinical and Forensic Psychologist & Professor at the University of South Florida

12:00 pm – 12:40 pm

LUNCH (provided) – St. Nicholas Room

12:40 pm – 1:00 pm

Intersection of Behavioral Health and Violence (via video) – Kimberly L. Nelson, LAC, MPA, Regional Administrator, Region 7, Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration

1:00 pm – 2:30 pm

Threat Assessment – Mario Scalora, PhD, Psychologist & Professor at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln

2:30 pm – 2:45 pm

BREAK - Refreshments available at the back of the room

2:45 pm – 4:00 pm

The Ethics of Reporting – Mark Lukin, PhD, Clinical Psychologist with the Nebraska Department of Correctional Services

Session Objectives and speaker information are on the back of this page

2016 Great Plains Disaster Behavioral Health Conference Objectives

1. Become familiar with the psychological impact of mass violence on individuals and communities.
 2. Distinguish between Violence Risk Assessment and Threat Assessment.
 3. Discuss the ethical issues regarding reporting of potentially violent activity.
-

9:15 am - 10:30 pm | 1.25 APA CE

“The Impact of Mass Violence on Communities” – Mark Follman, M.F.A.

Link to Mark Follman’s articles: <http://www.motherjones.com/authors/mark-follman>

Session Objectives

1. Identify what gun violence in America really costs.
2. Identify the types of impact gun violence has on a community-economically, psychologically, and beyond.
3. Explore what current data shows in relation to gun violence.

10:45 pm- 12:00 pm | 1.25 APA CE

“Violence Risk Assessment” – Randy K. Otto, Ph.D., ABPP

Link to Dr. Otto’s biography: <http://go.unl.edu/otto>

Session Objectives

1. Identify different violence risk assessment and strategies, and their advantages and disadvantages
2. Identify primary correlates of violence among persons with mental disorders
3. List three risk management/prevention strategies that can be used with people with mental disorders who present a heightened risk for violence

1:00 pm- 2:30 pm | 1.5 APA CE

“Threat Assessment” – Mario Scalora, Ph.D.

Link to Dr. Scalora’s biography: <http://psychology.unl.edu/mario-scalora>

Session Objectives

1. Detail relevant terminology and models
2. Describe application of threat assessment strategies
3. Describe relevant tools and methodologies
4. Apply knowledge of relevant mental health risk factors and management

2:45 pm- 4:00 pm | 1.25 APA CE

“The Ethics of Reporting” – Mark Lukin, Ph.D.

Session Objectives

1. Gain an increased understanding of how and when to report concerns about potential violence.
2. Gain an appreciation for organizational dynamics when working cooperatively to assess and manage risk.
3. Have the opportunity to reflect on the interaction between your professional ethical code and organizational expectations.

Keep this agenda with the APA CE award you will receive by Email as proof of attendance. You MUST turn in the CE attendance record prior to leaving the conference to receive CE’s.